Built for life

Naked Kitchens make beautiful, bespoke, bomb-proof kitchens that just don't cost the earth.

Whether you're cooking up a feast, having a quiet dinner party or hosting a riotous celebration, our kitchens are built to withstand culinary triumphs and baking disasters. They're the canvas to romance and heartbreak, laughter and tears, chaos and calm.

In short, Naked Kitchens are built for life.

We asked ourselves what a kitchen would look like for someone who loved dogs. How about if they really loved dogs?

And then what would it look like for an artist?

Or a plant-lover?

Our colours

Fromexpansiveskiestoglistening coastlines,ourrange of paint coloursare inspired bythe magnificent Norfolk scenery that surrounds our workshop and showroom.

But we also know that in a kitchen, durability is everything. Our paint achieved the highest grade possible when tested for scratch resistance and it’s applied by our spray line, delivering a finish that’s as bomb-proof as it is beautiful.

Can’t quite find the perfect colour? We also offer a bespoke colour-matching service. All you need to do is give us the name of another brand’s paint colour, a RAL code, or a physical sample (A6 or larger) and we can paint your kitchen in any colour of your choice.

How to buy

So, how does it work?

Get Inspired

What is it you'd love in your new kitchen? The island you've always imagined using with your family? The dishwasher of your dreams? Or maybe it's finally making the chaos of the Tupperware drawer a thing of the past? You don't need all the answers - we'll help you with all of this during the design - but we'll want to hear what you're dreaming of in your new kitchen.

Free Design Consultation

Ready to go? Book a free design consultation with us.

One of our designers will talk through your project to find out how you live life in your kitchen and everything you're looking for. Then, either in our Norfolk show-room or virtually from the comfort of your own home, together we'll create your kitchen. After our meeting, we'll share some images of your new kitchen in 3D, so you can begin to visualise your space.

Place Your Order

After that, you'll probably want to make some adjustments. We can revisit any aspect of your design with you, from changes of colour to a rethink on layout, they're all fine!

We'll make any changes, and get your order placed. Then, we'll do all the technical bits - ensuring everything fits around annoying ceiling pitches - and start making your kitchen. Once all the details have been confirmed, we'll confirm a delivery date and then the countdown begins...

The large island brings copious space for storage, preparation and socialising. A brass tap and handles and a white ceramic sink all add to the sleek style of the space. Caesarstone Cloudburst Concrete was selected for the worktops throughout the kitchen. A warm, grey marble style quartz stone, this crisp white concrete effect worktop provides a superb finishing touch.

Stanhoe

Stanhoe

The Stanhoe kitchen is constructed from White American Oak, which was chosen for its beautifully soft colour and unique grain pattern. Each drawer front was cut from the same piece of oak to ensure a consistent look across all units. The same natural material was used to create the Oak Super Stave worktops on both the island and base cabinets, floating shelving, and a stunning oak architrave which perfectly frames the kitchen from its adjoining open plan dining area.

Traditional box joints were chosen for the drawer construction to add subtle detail to the base units without detracting from the stunning natural grain pattern of the oak itself.

The double-edged nature of this construction method means that the joints can be seen from the front and side of the drawers, unlike dove-tail side joints which can only be fully appreciated when the drawers are open.

Cranbrook

Cranbrook

Whilst the clients wanted the space to feel modern, they didn't want it to feel too clinical, so we used natural finishes throughout the room to keep it feeling warm and homely. Exposed oak was combined with painted cabinetry in Oyster Catcher, to soften the bold colour and keep the space feeling earthy, true to the client's Scandi brief. We used a horizontal grain direction on the exposed oak cabinets and the pieces of oak were carefully selected for each door so that the grain pattern looked consistent.

Beautiful handmade oak bar handles were used to tie the painted larder unit into the exposed oak doors in the run of base cabinets and were a great way to appreciate the natural beauty of the oak every time you opened the doors.

We used a combination of floating oak shelving and glazed units instead of solid wall cabinetry to keep the space from feeling cramped. The Super Stave shelving between the window and oven stack were reflected at the end of the kitchen next to the larder, meaning that every corner could be utilised for storage, none being wasted as empty wall space.

Georgian Hall

Georgian Hall

This is perhaps the singularly most complex kitchen we have ever undertaken. Every element had to work perfectly with every other. It goes without saying the standard of cabinetry, materials and finishes had to be second to none.

The true success behind the kitchen is the design and the way each detail flows with another. There are five different finishes with five different materials, yet all these elements combine in such harmony that entering the room is like walking into a work of art.

Design details were incorporated to bridge the gap between the traditional nature of the building with the more contemporary functionality of a working kitchen. The Sub Zero & Wolf appliances are not only fabulous in purpose, but also look sensational in this majestic kitchen.

The solid American Black Walnut worktops of the island remind you of the beautiful natural materials that play a big part in this kitchen. Mesh centre-pieces to the shaker doors demonstrate the transition between classic and contemporary.

Just as with all our door styles, we pay a great deal of attention to the details, and the Midgard handle has been developed with ergonomics, aesthetics and most importantly, functionality, all in mind.

We can design beautiful bespoke storage solutions for other rooms in your house too; such as pantries, utility rooms, boot rooms and dressing rooms. However, the possibilities do not end there, if you have another room in mind please get in touch and we will be happy to work with you to create any cabinetry you desire.

Pantry

Pantries are becoming more popular than ever in clients' homes. Acting as the perfect storage haven for food, crockery and household items, a pantry can be a brilliant solution for keeping your kitchen tidy and clutter-free. # Dressing Room & Wardrobes

Get dressed in style in a sophisticated, fully custom dressing room, made to suit your needs with tailor-made features. Lending itself to practicality and style, our made-to-measure wardrobes make excellent use of space allowing for ample storage and a polished look both inside and out. Whether that is as a fabulous fitted walk in wardrobe or a beautifully bespoke built in wardrobe, we have styles to suit everyone.

If you are after a slightly different option to our built-in designs, we also offer a range of stylish wardrobes at incredibly affordable prices. These are all available for you to purchase online in the same bespoke colour and style options as our kitchen cabinets.

Utility

There is nothing to say that a utility room should equate to poor aesthetic. By its very nature, a utility room is often one of the most utilised rooms in the house, so it's a shame to overlook this space at the design stage. Often a major entry point of the working end of a house, it is frequently a lot more visible than people think.

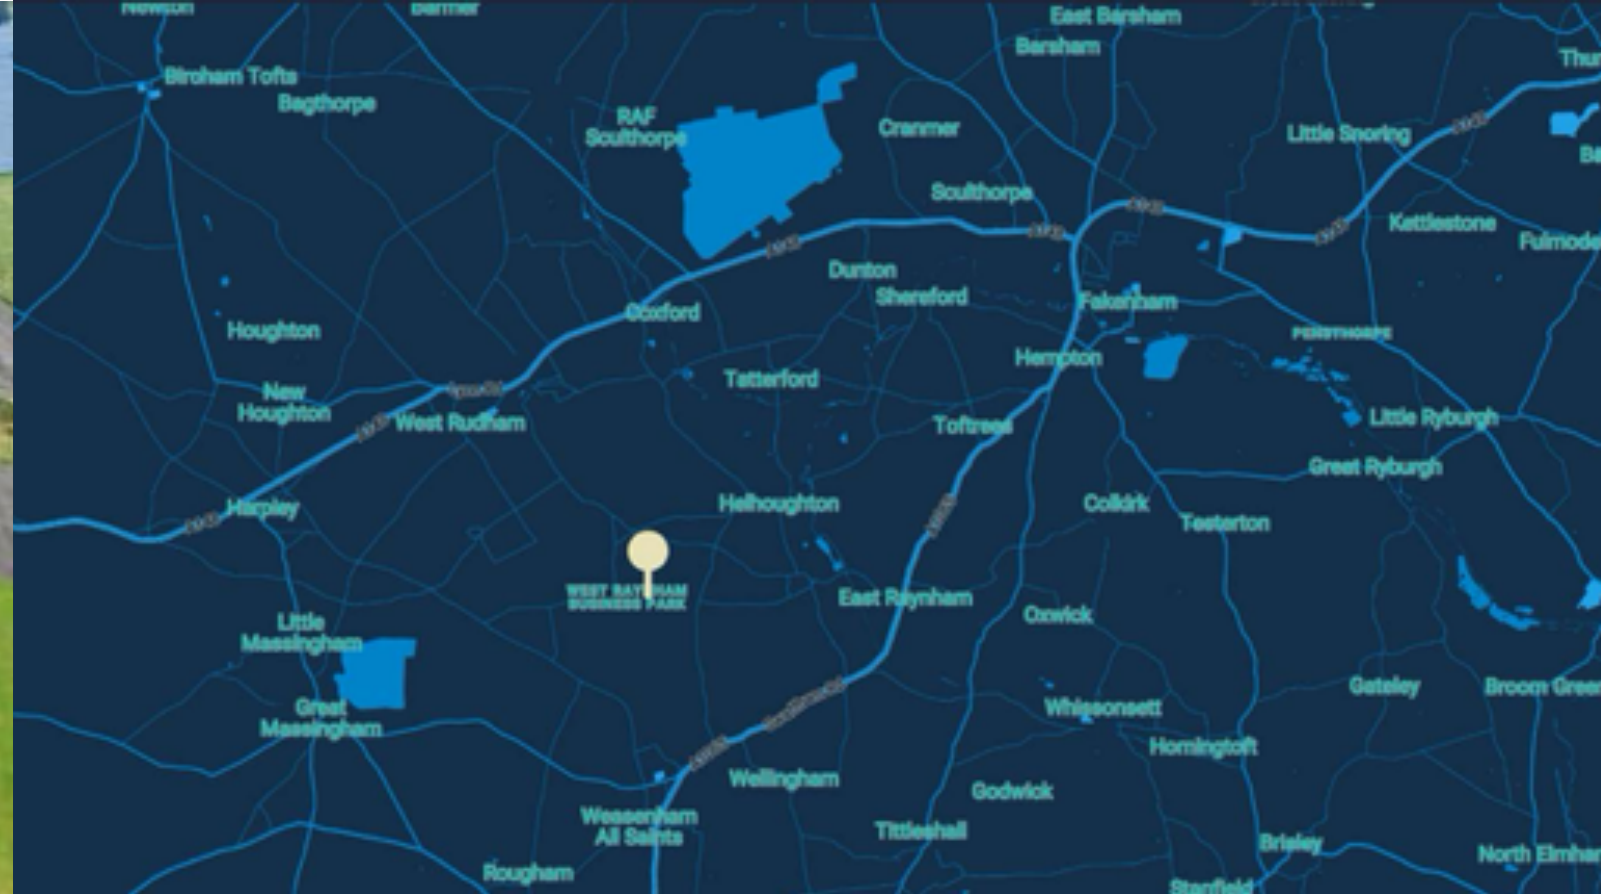

If required, we can modify some material specifications to keep costs under control, yet maintain the same simple elegance of our kitchens. This can transform a dull utility room into a lovely, functional space to work in.
